

Makani Networks to discuss WAN Acceleration roadmap

April 17, 2008 – San Francisco, California – Makani Networks, Inc., the next-generation wide area networked data services company, will discuss its technology & product roadmap for WAN optimization and application acceleration, on April 23, 2009, at 3:00 p.m. ET.

Join Makani Networks management, experts, partners and customers as they discuss how Makani Networks currently enables organizations to build and deploy cloud & WAN acceleration appliance, as well as product and technology direction for extending the benefits of acceleration to applications and storage for public and public/private clouds.

Makani offers high-performance, easy-to-use and technically innovative solutions for next-generation wide-area services. Founded in 2006, Makani is headquartered in San Francisco USA.